

Document DE 94 08 167 was also cited in the German examination procedure and discloses a power management for household appliances in particular steam irons with a control option to distribute the maximal available power onto different loads.